Introduction

There are a lot of places to buy the same old speakers, amplifiers, TVs, projectors, and other home technology products everybody has. But we're guessing those aren't the products at the top of your wish list this year.

There's no other retailer in the St. Louis area where you can both see and hear most of the innovative, game-changing home audio and video products featured in this guide. The people working on our showroom floor know these products inside and out, so you don't have to.

Our team will work to understand the exact experience you're looking to create in your space, and work with you to identify the right mix of products to accomplish it.

Nobody knows high quality home entertainment like The Sound Room... and these are a few of our favorite things.

The Sound Room

SONY

Little Katie wants a pony. The whole family wants a Sony. There's perhaps no brand name that's brought more smiles on Christmas morning than Sony. From the Walkman to the boombox to five generations of the PlayStation gaming console, Sony's been on Christmas lists for decades. And for good reason.

Today, it's Sony's TVs and projectors that are getting all the attention. After all, Sony cameras are among the most popular on movie sets. Sony consoles are the product of choice in Hollywood editing bays. From the studio to your living room, it's likely that every movie or TV show you watch has been touched by more than one Sony product. It stands to reason the best viewing experience will also come from a Sony TV or projector.

The holidays are all about spending time with the people who mean the most to you. For many families, that means movies and entertainment. Sony's got the gifts that everyone in your family can enjoy and appreciate together this year.

Sonus faber®

Taking inspiration from Father Christmas himself, Sonus faber opened its first artisan workshop on the hills of Vicenza, Italy in 1983. Today, they've carved out a reputation that places them at the top of every audio lover's holiday wish list.

Made from natural materials and inspired by luthiers, each Sonus faber speaker is designed and handcrafted to ensure it is a unique and enduring work of art. Each speaker cabinet is individually finished, requiring days of treatment and weeks of aging.

The aesthetic presence of a Sonus faber speaker is only rivaled by the richness and authenticity of its sound. Every detail is meticulously attended to, ensuring these works of art must be both seen and heard to be fully appreciated.

AIDA

A reference to Giuseppe Verdi's timeless opera. Inspired by tradition, reinvented with innovative technology.

Paradigm®

In 1982, two Toronto audiophiles came together to unapologetically change the way the world thinks about speaker design. They were committed to custom-designing speaker components based on science, not speculation. They were on a mission to change the prevailing industry paradigm.

Today, Paradigm continues to set the standard for never settling. They're heavily invested in R&D to push the boundaries of audio technology with an unwavering focus on quality and performance. The company prioritizes nothing above acoustics, ensuring every component contributes to delivering an exceptional auditory experience.

The weather outside may be frightful. But inside? Inside, imagine yourself basking in an immersive world of audio, courtesy of Paradigm. These are products you need to hear to believe.

Nothing stands the test of time quite like an American original. The speakers in the Klipsch Heritage series were designed at a time when Made in America was a testament to ingenuity, quality, and durability.

Paul Klipsch – equal parts genius, madman, and maverick – invented the Klipschorn in a small shed in Hope, Arkansas in 1946. Over the next several decades, he tinkered, adjusted, and innovated his way to five more speaker designs that together make up the Klipsch Heritage series. While the blueprints for some of these audio marvels are nearly 80 years old, the performance is timeless and still unrivaled today.

Klipsch's patented horn-loading designs deliver lifelike audio designed to transport listeners from their living rooms to the front row. Put up the vintage tinsel, drop the needle on a Bing Crosby record, scoop a glass of egg nog, and put the cool back in your Christmas with Klipsch Heritage series.
